Art Unit: 1723

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-24 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-20 of U.S. Patent No. 6,589,797 in view of Hackiyan patent 6,523,681. The instant claims differ from the claims of '797 in requiring the adsorbent packaging material to comprise fibers, granules or combinations thereof, the claims otherwise being substantially identical to those of '797. However, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to have modified the methods disclosed by the claims of '797, by utilizing fibers and/or granules, as taught by Hackiyan in column 6, lines 59-63 in view of the larger adsorbing capacity afforded by such materials since they readily form package layers.

The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: The body of the Specification on page 1 requires updating to include that parent application 09/866,169 is "now patent 6,589,797".

Appropriate correction is required.

ALLOWABLE SUBJECT MATTER

Apart from the double patenting rejection, instant independent claims 1 and 20, and thus claims dependent therefrom are now deemed to distinguish over the closest prior art constituting Hackiyan patents 6,523,681; 6,308,827; 6,161,687 and Indriksons et al patent 5,770,086 in view of respective recitations of contacting the gel with the recovery fluid to disrupt the liquid-swollen absorbent gel. The Hackiyan patents and Indriksons otherwise anticipate the remainder of the claim limitations of forming an absorbent packaging material for handling samples in which at least some of the sample has formed a liquid-swollen gel, contacting the liquid-swollen gel with a recovery period to form a recovery mixture using osmotic forces and removing the recovery mixture for detection and analysis. The prior art (example column 5, lines 27-35 of Hackiyan '681) teaches liquid extraction and osmosis applied with a recovery liquid to separate adsorbed substances from a stable gel material that is an integral part of the package, however does not suggest that such gel is disrupted such that is broken or has its fluidity characteristics altered as described by the instant Specification at page 10, line 21-page 11, line 3 concerning gel disruption.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Mauck et al patent 5,075,221 is made of record since it is of record in the parent '797 patent.
